CIMA Registered Tuition Provider Scheme 2019 - Update

The Registered Tuition Provider scheme is now live; we are transferring existing learning partners into the new scheme whilst also rolling out to new providers around the world. By now most of you should have received your emailed invite, together with the very simple application form required to join the scheme. If you haven't received your invite, don't delay, contact your local office for full details of how to apply.

Updating of the Teaching area of the website is going well and we will soon be launching the new listing of Registered Tuition Providers. Being part of the listing is an essential recruitment tool and we urge employers and students to always use a CIMA registered provider as listed on CIMAGLOBAL. If you want to make sure your institution is on that list, get your application in to your local regional office ASAP.

Understanding the exam blueprints

In the world of finance qualifications, the CIMA exam blueprints are pretty unique, offering clarity and insights into what will be examined in the 2019 CIMA Professional Qualification assessments. This is a huge help for students and tutors in terms of exam preparation and, for yourselves, in terms of putting together course plans, materials and practice questions. In the August issue we will have a full debrief on the blueprints, what they are, why we are so proud of them and how you will be able to use them to prepare your students for exam success.

Syllabus support

Our colleagues in the Centre of Excellence have been putting together a series of documents to support the 2019 syllabus, beginning with those subjects where there have been most changes ie those in the E pillar. You should already have received copies of the E1 and E2 documents (we've had great feedback on them) and we will be sending links to support documents for E3 and P1 very soon. Make sure you have re-registered onto the CIMA Registered Tuition Provider Scheme to get access to these valuable resources.

A direct benefit of the Future of Finance research for academics and tutors who are also CIMA members is access to the Digital Mindset Pack, a CPD offering which covers essential topics from the research including block chain, robotics and AI. This great resource, worth £225, is available free to CIMA members who have paid their 2019 membership subscription.
